Frequently Asked Questions

I have an immigration problem, and I need legal assistance, but I can't afford to pay. Can I get legal aid?

From the 1 April 2013 the availability of Legal Aid for Immigration cases has been greatly reduced. We are only able to offer Legal Aid for cases concerning Asylum and Refuge law, and certain other categories such as victims of Domestic Violence who wish to apply for settlement, and victims of human trafficking. All cases based on family life, in the UK are excluded from Legal Aid, as are most other categories of Immigration law.

If I am not eligible for Legal Aid, do I have to pay upfront?

You will not be charged for the initial consultation. But if you decide to instruct us, we will require a deposit, once you have agreed to our quote.

Do you offer fixed fees for Immigration work?

We offer fixed fees for most types of applications. Fixed fees are not usually available where the amount of work involved is very unpredictable, for example where the required evidence is not easily available.

My English is not good. Will I have an interpreter?

We do not provide interpreters for the free consultation. If you can not speak English you are advised to bring a friend who can. For further appointments, any interpreter fees will be added to your bill unless you are receiving Legal Aid. However our interpreters' fees are reasonable (around £25 per hour).

What will happen at my initial free appointment?

You will be seen free of charge for up to 20 minutes by a highly qualified and experienced advisor, who will assess your immigration problem and advise you on the best course of action in your case, the procedure to follow, and what further information is required. If you decide that you would like us to help you, we will tell you how much it is likely to cost. In most cases we can offer a fixed fee.

My immigration application has been refused. Do you offer a fixed fee for dealing with my appeal to the Tribunal?

Yes - we can offer a fixed fee. The amount will depend on the type of appeal. We will be able to quote a fixed fee once we have assessed your case and how much work is involved.
